

Making squiggly careers better for everyone

Who we are

Scaling squiggly careers

Over the past ten years, we have supported more than five million people with the skills to take ownership for their career development.

Global learning partners

We work across all industries and support people at every stage of their career.

Our learning partners include:

Microsoft, Sky, KPMG, BBC, Google, HSBC, LVMH and Warner Bros. Discovery.

Career experts and experimenters

We run global experiments to reimagine retention and support people to squiggle & stay. Our insights on careers have been featured in five Harvard Business Review books including Critical Thinking and Taking Charge of your Career.

Career development with a difference

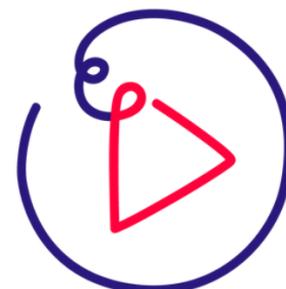

Our unique approach to career development results in learning that people enjoy and creates a lasting impact in organisations.

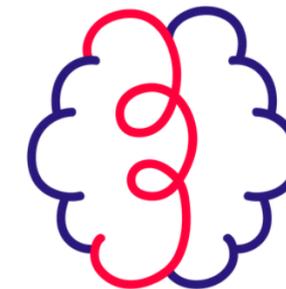

Learning that inspires

We use live drawing, discussion and storytelling to deliver learning that's enjoyable, inclusive and interactive.

Learning that's useful

We share tried and tested ideas and actions designed to make it easy for everyone to add learning into how they already work.

Learning that lasts

We combine high energy in the moment learning, with flexible team and individual development to create learning that lasts.

*Absolutely incredible session!
I can implement straight away
- great questions to include in my discussions with the team*

Sky

I found the content of each session insightful and actionable and the delivery was engaging and clear, which is exactly what we were looking for

Kraft Heinz

Your external perspective created a memorable experience for our employees... with insights they will take with them as they continue their careers
